

HOLIDAY BENEFIT PROGRAMME

A benefit employees look forward to every year

Shared Hotels turns the company's social budget into a real, annual holiday benefit for employees — without the company having to run a hotel.

THREE PROBLEMS WE SOLVE

01

Turnover and lack of retention

Most benefits exist "on paper". What's needed is a benefit employees genuinely use every year and look forward to — because it's recurring.

02

Seasonality of leave

Everyone wants leave in July–August. Our programme is available at least 6 months a year (March–November) — employees travel evenly.

03

Wellbeing without substance

The Omnibus I directive: companies with 1,000+ employees report ESG from 2028. Annual holidays are a measurable, concrete contribution to the S pillar — not a declaration.

HOW IT WORKS

1

The employer joins the programme

Funded through the ZFSS — without engaging the company's own operating budget.

2

SH secures hotel capacity

For the employer's specific order. The hotel is bought to order — not "in reserve".

3

A specialised operator runs the hotel

The company doesn't become a hotelier. Operational risk sits with the operator, not the employer.

4

Employees use it every year

An annual stay over at least 6 months of the year. A benefit the employee genuinely plans and uses.

Eight reasons why it's worth bringing to the board

- Eliminating leave seasonality — employees travel evenly throughout the season, not in a single summer peak.
- A benefit with high real usage — an annual trip the employee actually takes and looks forward to.
- Retention and employment stability — a recurring, tangible benefit builds attachment to the employer.
- A strong recruitment argument — a differentiator from competitors in a candidate's market.
- Wellbeing and work-life balance — real recovery for employees, improving physical and mental health.
- HR doesn't manage a hotel — the programme is run by a specialised operator. Zero extra work for HR.
- Funded from the ZFŚS — the employer doesn't directly engage its own operating budget.
- ESG — concrete data for the report — measurable employee wellbeing instead of general declarations.

ESG · SOCIAL PILLAR (S)

"ESG stops being a cost — it becomes a benefit."
